Deacon Jeff's Corner

Being a Catholic Christian (a true Catholic Christian) is a difficult task especially in the world we live in today. As crazy and "messed up" as we believe the world is today, a look back in history shows it has usually been this way, even back to the Old Testament days. If you need an example, imagine this: In the days following Jesus' ascension to Heaven, and for almost 300 years thereafter, the Romans persecuted Christians. The penalty for professing your faith as a Christian: Death. In fact, many followers of Jesus in that time preferred to lose their life than lose their faith. In one particularly gruesome display of torture, the Romans used Christians as their streetlights at night by hanging them from poles and burning them. That usually provided enough light for people to walk the streets.

It's doubtful we will ever be tortured like that for our faith, but the days are already here where professing your Christian (and in many ways Catholic) faith is mocked; if not visibly, then certainly in people's minds. So, the question I think we all should ask ourselves during the Lenten season is this: Are you proud to be a Catholic? Do you want people to know you are a Catholic Christian?

If the answer is yes, then I have a few more questions for you to ponder. First, do you observe the Church's teaching that attending Mass every Sunday and on Holy Days is an obligation (requirement)? The only exceptions are, as per The Catechism of the Catholic Church, illness, care for an infant, or dispensation by their own pastor (CCC, 2181). Sleeping in, sporting events, and traveling are examples of what many will do on Sundays versus attending Mass.

If we really take our faith seriously, we need to keep the Sabbath holy, which is the Third Commandment. Our society says to do whatever we feel, but being a Catholic Christian has responsibilities and, in some cases, painful inconvenience. If we truly believe Jesus is fully present in the Eucharist, why would you want to stay away?

Deacon Jeff

Mass Intention Changes

Please be advised that under the direction of the Diocese of Green Bay and starting March 1st, there will be changes to how and when you book Mass Intentions. In order to ensure there are enough Mass Intentions for the entire POP family, we are establishing the following guidelines:

1. Only one scheduled intention will be booked per Mass. This one scheduled intention can have no more than three names within the intention.
2. A family can book no more than four scheduled Masses per calendar year.
3. The process of opening the calendar for booking Mass will not change. January to March 2025 will be opened after Easter as normal.
4. If you have already scheduled four or more Masses for 2024, please be advised that you will not be able to book additional intentions.

If you have any questions or concerns about these changes, please contact the parish office and ask to speak with Deacon Jeff Prickette or Kody Hansen.

Thank you for your anticipated patience as we work through this transition.

Prince of Peace is Hiring a Custodian

Due to our growing facility, Prince of Peace is looking to add to our team. We will be hiring a Parish Custodian that will be responsible for the cleaning aspects of the building, event set up, event takedown, lawn care, snow removal, and light maintenance duties to ensure the campus is clean and safe.

This position requires an individual to lift at least 50 pounds, work 25 hours per week, and work inside and outside with limited supervision.

In order to apply, please submit your resume to Kody Hansen by bringing it to the Parish Office or email khansen@popgb.org by March 18, 2024.

Thank you!!

The Cleansing of the Temple and of Our Minds
by Deacon Dennis

In today's gospel, we hear the story of Jesus cleansing out the temple. Jesus was upset and irate because the merchants had turned the temple precincts into a marketplace. The merchants were selling animals for sacrifice. Money changers were exchanging coins from Jews who came from afar and had money that was not accepted by the local merchants. Jesus wanted the temple and the surrounding area to be an area of prayer "for all peoples". The oxen, sheep and doves, for those who could not afford a larger offering, and the tables of the money exchangers made it difficult to walk through the area and to enter the temple to pray.

The justification of Jesus' actions is noted in the three synoptic Gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke. In John's version, which we hear today, Jesus' words are a bit more commanding as He tells the merchants to, "Take these out of here, and stop making my Father's house a marketplace." When the Jews heard this, they were indignant of Jesus and asked Him for a sign for doing this. Jesus replies with the familiar quote, "Destroy this temple and in three days, I will raise it up." We of course know that Jesus was speaking of the Temple of His Body, when He was raised from the dead. His disciples would recall these words upon His Resurrection. The Jews thought he was referring to the temple that they were standing in which after forty-six years was still under construction. This kind of metaphoric speech that Jesus used, infuriated the chief priests, scribes and leaders of the people. It only made them want to seek His death even more.

As we progress through our Lenten season, we hear and are reminded more and more of the encounters Jesus had with His disciples, with the people who wanted Him killed and with the many followers who believed when they saw the signs Jesus worked. Jesus' love for us will soon be revealed by His willingness to die for our sins with His broken and pierced Body hanging on a cross. This third Sunday of Lent is the perfect time to free our minds of busyness and clutter and allow us a clear path to His forgiveness, kindness and wisdom. We can surely use Jesus' help to be more repentant for our sins. Let us ask Jesus to heal us and accept our forgiveness as we journey to His crucifixion.

Building Campaign Statements will be mailed to you by the Catholic Foundation. If you have any questions, please call them at 920-272-8008.
