Deacon Jeff's Corner

One of the many great treasures we have in the Catholic Church are the saints; those who did not live perfect lives on earth but strove to stay as close to Jesus as they could. One of those saints is St. Josemaria Escriva (1902-1975), who founded the Order of Opus Dei (which means "Work of God") in 1928 and was canonized by St. John Paul II in 2002. He felt the character of a person was of critical importance and had several inspirational quotes on the topic. In this "midpoint" of Lent, I'd like to share just some of those quotes in the hope they may inspire you through the balance of Lent – and beyond.

"Do not let your life be sterile. Be useful. Blaze a trail. Shine forth with the love of your faith and your love."
 "Turn your back on the deceiver (Satan) when he whispers in your ear, 'Why complicate your life?'"
 "Will-power. Energy. Example. What has to be done is done...without wavering...without worrying about what others think."

"Let obstacles only make you bigger. The grace of our Lord will not be lacking. Through the midst of the mountains the waters shall pass. You will pass through the mountains!"

"Do not be afraid of the truth, even though the truth may mean your death."

"Do you laugh because I tell you that you have a 'vocation to marriage'? Well, you have just that – a vocation."

"When you must judge others, why put into your criticism the bitterness of your own failures?"
 "You go on being worldly, frivolous, and giddy because you are a coward. What is it, if not cowardice to refuse to face yourself?"

These are just a sample of the quotations from St. Josemaria I ran across. Maybe one of these strikes you and if it does, make it a Lenten goal for the next three weeks, all the way to Easter Sunday!

A Reflection on Today's Readings

A print of Rembrandt's Return of the Prodigal Son is displayed at St. Norbert Abbey. Visitors often pause and reflect on it and the story that inspired it. One of the elements people often notice is the father's hands as he comforts the son. One of the hands appears masculine in nature; the other smaller and more feminine. I've never really given much thought to the word, prodigal. To me it was simply a word associated with the younger son in the parable we read today; a word that describes the actions of someone who has reformed their reckless ways.

But I came across a commentary on the Gospel entitled, the Prodigal Father. And I realized that the word, prodigal, can also mean an extravagant, lavish generosity, much like the compassion portrayed by the father in the story. Theologian Dianne Bergant, CSA, suggests that it enables us to understand God in remarkable new ways:

"This is a God who allows us to follow our own dreams, who is partial to no one, who faithfully and patiently waits for us to return, who gently corrects our misperceptions. God longs to be reconciled with us even more than we long to be reconciled with God, and it is God's desire that we be reconciled to each other as well. God's prodigality is incredible."

The parable of the Prodigal Son is a rich story; one that invites us to look at our own images of God. As you reflect on this story, who is God for you?
